CMAL has combined resources with ABAX, a Multilingual Communication and Media Consultancy to provide high quality conference and business meeting interpreting services to companies, organisations and governments in the energy and natural resources sectors.

ABAX started trading in the mid 80's and since then has provided qualified simultaneous technical interpreters to several conferences, trade shows and high level management meetings in the UK and overseas directly and through third parties.

ABAX has demonstrated that a seminar and business meeting organised with language facilities improves communication, reduces stress, avoids misunderstandings and generates productive goodwill from all parties, leading to reduced costs, saved time and delivers profitable outcomes.

In addition conferences and seminars offering simultaneous interpretation facilities, tend to attract 25% more attendees drawn from a generally higher management and corporate level, as proven in the medical & computing world once thought to be driven only by the English language.
